

GUIDELINES FOR GROUP VISITS TO KETTLE'S YARD DURING 2012

Kettle's Yard is expanding. We are building a much-needed Education Wing with separate spaces for creative workshops and seminars/talks. The building works begin in January and continue throughout 2012. During this time, the majority of the gallery will be closed. From April the Extension of the House will also be closed (these are the larger spaces, where the long white sofa and reference library are located). We will maintain access to the cottages, the shop and a temporary education space. There will also be a series of one-room displays in the reduced gallery spaces. With limited space, we have had to reassess the guidelines for groups visiting us in 2012. Should you have any questions about group bookings, please do not hesitate to contact Rosie on 01223 748100 or email education@kettlesyard.cam.ac.uk

January 2012 – March 2012

Maximum group size: 30

Available spaces: Cottages, Extension, Shop, Gaudier-Brzeska room display in the Gallery, and Education Room

Introductory talks available: Yes

Practical workshops available: Yes

April 2012 – July 2012

Maximum group size: 20*

*UK schools can arrange to bring up to 30 students but extra provision must be made by the school to run half the session in the temporary education room. These sessions may work with the Alfred Wallis room display (notes will be made available) but must be led by a teacher, or a member of Kettle's Yard staff for a charge of £25.

Available spaces: Cottages, Shop, and temporary Education Room

Introductory talks available: Yes

Practical workshops available: Yes, maximum of 20

August 2012 – December 2012

Maximum group size: 20

Available spaces: Cottages and Shop

Introductory talks available: Yes

Practical workshops available: No

Please note we are subject to the whims of the building schedule. We will give you the most accurate information we have and inform you of any changes, but please bear with us should you experience last minute changes. We will do all we can to ensure a successful and positive visit.